EFFECTIVE SAFETY & HEALTH COMMITTEE

2 Days Course (9.00am – 5.30pm)

COURSE OVERVIEW

The setup of a Safety and Health Committee is a requirement in the Occupational Safety & Health Act 1994. Employers with forty or more employees will be responsible to setup a Safety & Health Committee that represents both the management and the workers. In order to have an effective safety and health committee, the members should understand their role and responsibilities. They will also learn about compliance with the requirements of the Safety and Health Committee regulations.

This is a 2-day program specially designed for Safety and Health committee members at your organization. The training is aimed at safety and health committee members and other employees or management representatives. Participants will also learn about their duties as safety & health committee members in addition to providing suggestions and ideas to enhance safety and health achievement at the workplace. The training will guide committee members how to perform key tasks such as safety inspection and accident investigation.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

After completion of the course, the participants will be able to:
